Know your Coffee...

Light roast coffee beans

Light roast coffee is so-named because of the short roast time that leaves the beans with a light brown colour.

Medium roast coffee beans

Medium roast coffee beans are a slightly darker shade of brown. The colour change is caused by the natural sugars within the beans beginning to caramelize. This also results in a stronger aroma coming from the beans.

Dark roast coffee beans

Coffee beans that are darkly roasted have lost their brown colour and become black. The beans also become shiny at this stage as they are heavily coated in their oils.
