SONDELA beans

Light roast coffee beans
Light roast coffee is so-named because of the short roast time that leaves the beans with a light brown colour.

CAPPUCCINI FOR BREAKFAST & espressi after dinner...

Medium roast coffee beans
Medium roast coffee beans are a slightly darker shade of brown. The colour change is caused by the natural sugars within the beans beginning to caramelise. This also results in a stronger aroma coming from the beans.

Dark roast coffee beans
Coffee beans that are darkly roasted have lost their brown colour and become black. The beans also become shiny at this stage as they are heavily coated in their oils.
